FOREST OWNERS WINTER SCHOOL

The Forest Owners Winter School is a hands-on, interactive educational event for families who own forestland in Washington. Whether you live on your land or are an absentee owner, this is a great opportunity to learn how to gain more benefits from your family forest no matter where it is located in the state.

Come to the Winter School and:

- Get practical, “how-to” advice on simple stewardship practices
- Talk with agency and natural resource professionals from Eastern and Western Washington who are available to assist you in meeting your family’s goals
- Meet other landowners (maybe a neighbor!)
- See equipment displays and speak to vendors
- Get your forestry questions answered at the resource center

Workshops and classes range from 1 hour to 3 hours. Throughout the day, over one dozen topics will be presented for you to choose from! By the end of the day, you will have attended four-six sessions. In addition, there will be a resource area featuring exhibitors, vendors, and displays by public, private, and nonprofit organizations that provide products and services to assist landowners.

Whether you are a “novice” to family forestry, or your family has owned land for many generations, there is something new for everyone to learn at the Forest Owners Winter School.
